Open House: the spirit of East Finchley

By Helen Drake

The second East Finchley Open arts weekend was launched in style by Rudi Vis MP on Saturday 2 July as the artists, their relatives and friends, along with Councillors Alison Moore and Colin Rogers, gathered on the High Road outside Mulberry Court.

To add that extra bit of pizzazz, three bicycle-driven rickshaws ferried art lovers from one venue to another, each location showing a pink "Open House" banner. Work on display at the 16 venues included paintings, drawings, photography, sculpture, jewellery, ceramics and poetry.

East Finchley Open (EFO) is the largest group of artists working together in Barnet and has evolved from an original nucleus of five people in early 2004 to a thriving group of 50 artists. For many who had previously been working in isolation, it has been a great pleasure to discover each other and share ideas, skills and successes.

Monica Peiser, who was displaying her individual jewellery alongside the vibrant, music-inspired paintings of Mike Sharp, and the sculpture and black-and-white prints of David Aronsohn, enthused about the "unique mix" of the group.

Night of fire

By Erini Rodis

If you popped into the Tally Ho gallery at the end of July, you might have seen Craig Johnson's Night of Fire exhibition.

East Finchley resident Craig's photographs display a very different view of city life:

At first glance they seem to be blurry midnight townscapes as seen through an inebriated lens. Look more closely, however, and you start to see things: a bridge on the North Circular, a favourite pub, shadows of folks illuminated just briefly by a bus going by, and it begins to feel quite personal.

A brilliant example of long-exposure experimentation; you could get quite lost dreaming on. Be dazzled!

David Aronsohn, founder member and Chair of EFO, referred to "the spirit of East Finchley's creative community", and welcomed the increased volume of visitors and sales compared with the first "Open House" last year.

Councillor Phil Yeoman opened the EFO exhibition venue at All Saints Church, Durham Road at a private view on Monday 27 June. The exhibition formed part of the East Finchley Arts Festival, and at the private view Arts Festival Director, Geoffrey Hanson, spoke about the positive collaboration of the EFO and the Arts Festival this year. EFO member Eddy Sayer, composer and percussionist, performed a Balinese gong ceremony to bless the EFO exhibition and "Open House" with happiness and well-being.

Mr Aronsohn announced that the next EFO event will be an arts and craft fair, to be held in the autumn. For more information on EFO go to www.eastfinchleyopen.org.uk

Pay back time for Falstaff

By Sheila Armstrong

Shakespeare's The Merry Wives of Windsor was brought to The Gatehouse in Highgate in a 1950s setting by Wild Thyme Productions in mid July.

It was a great show: humorous, plenty of amusing period details, and with singing and dancing to contemporary pop music from a talented cast. There was even a touch of discreet nudity. The Carry On films were an obvious influence on this fast-paced farce.

Finchley resident Joan Lane brought her production, directed by Stephen Jameson, direct from a stint at the International Shakespeare Festival in Germany earlier in the month. Known for their innovative productions and committed to making the Bard's plays accessible to all, Wild Thyme enjoys a high profile in Germany, and on the basis of this production a similar one here.

Paul Bigley was convincing as the down-at-heel knight Falstaff who plans to seduce two Windsor wives, unaware that they are friends and find it all great sport. There follows the usual Shakespearian twists and turns with husbands, suitors, servants, a duel and a young couple who are in love and are forced to marry in secret. All this culminates in Falstaff getting his come-uppance.

The leads were strongly played and all the comic characters had their well-worked-out eccentricities firmly in place throughout.

Another successful show at the Gatehouse and another successful production by Wild Thyme making Shakespeare fun and more accessible to modern audiences.

Methodist concert

By Tom Walker

The Methodist Church on the High Road was filled with the sound of classical music influenced by everything from jazz to gypsy on Sunday 10 July.

The audience was treated to a highly entertaining evening by Bryan Fairfax on violin, Catherine Morphet on clarinet and Caroline Soresby on piano, playing pieces by a range of 20th century composers, from Debussy to Beethoven.

Caroline was very impressive on the piano, moving her fingers across the keys with great skill, and performing a solo. Catherine's clarinet was a deep blues saxophone one minute and a soaring bird the next, while Bryan's violin completed the package with style. The concert ended on an interesting note, with a piece by Hungarian composer Bela Bartok. Bartok was inspired by the music of the ancient Hungarian gypsies, who knew nothing about composition and instead improvised whatever sounded good to them, with intriguing results.

The right atmosphere

Bryan has been coming to perform at the church for eight years. He said, "I really like to play here. The acoustics are good and the atmosphere is lovely - this is just right for us. I think this is one of the best concert halls in North London."

About 40 people were in the audience and many approached the trio after the concert to say how much they had enjoyed it. There were free refreshments in the interval, and a collection for the North London Hospice, which raised over £135.

The Methodist Church holds a concert once a month; the next scheduled event is a performance by an instrumental trio on Sunday 11 September. Admission to the concerts is free, with a collection for a charity of the artists' choice.
