Action plan to tackle root causes of alcohol problems

The Barnet Safer Communities Partnership (BSCP) has set out an action plan aimed at halting the spread of alcohol misuse among the borough's young people and adults.

The council says "radical innovations" being proposed by the drugs and alcohol team include asking licensees to pay a voluntary levy, as already trialled by traders in Dublin, to help fund cleaning of the local area, policing and research into harm caused by alcohol.

There would also be a review and expansion of Barnet's alcohol-free zones and Pub Watch scheme, as well as an increased focus on issues such as teenage pregnancy and the effects alcohol abuse by parents can have on children within the household.

The BSCP compiled the strategy following figures estimating that 47,000 adults in Barnet drink at levels that risk harm to their health, and national statistics which have revealed that 40% of accident and emergency admissions to hospital are alcohol-related.

Work will go ahead in schools to warn young people of the sexual risk factors associated with excessive alcohol consumption, while parents will be targeted through advertising in pubs and clubs, and through information given out to young mothers and fathers and at antenatal groups.

Councillor Brian Salinger, the BSCP's chair, said: "Alcohol has been identified as one of the key contributing factors to anti-social behaviour and is a concern across the Safer Communities Partnership. Its effect on levels of crime and disorder and on accident and emergency admissions is clear to see.

"This action plan is aimed at the roots of the problem. Treatment, prevention and early intervention is the way forward to tackle the blight of alcohol abuse on our borough."

The draft action plan has been circulated to key members of the partnership and is due to go before the Safer Communities Partnership Board soon for approval.

Mail stolen from trolley

A group of men slashed the bags of a mail trolley while the postman was delivering the post in Twyford Avenue, N2 on 25 January.

They took around 300 items of mail and escaped by car. The postman managed to take the registration number of the 'getaway' car.

A small number of the stolen items were opened, their contents removed and the remainder dumped in a private car park around half a mile away in Oakridge Drive. One of our readers discovered the discarded mail and reported it to the police.

A Royal Mail spokesman told THE ARCHER that the recovered mail had been forwarded to customers, and asked that anyone with any information about the incident should contact the police.

High Road resurfacing

The High Road N2 is to be resurfaced from Bedford Road to East End Road, starting on 6 March. Work will be carried out between 8pm and 5am and is expected to take 4 nights.

An LBBC circular has been distributed around the affected area, and it warns of the need to park cars away from the High Road during the work.

Police warn car owners over key thefts

Barnet Police are issuing guidelines to drivers following a spate of thefts and burglaries where the targets have been cars parked outside homes. Since this January, there have been 383 burglaries reported to police, and 45 vehicles have been stolen.

Most modern cars have excellent security, forcing thieves to use the vehicle's keys to steal them. This often means breaking into the house or using rods or canes through letterboxes to remove the keys from just inside the front door. There are several things car owners can do to deter thieves. Firstly, if they have a garage, they should use it. The police point out that insurance companies often contact them to confirm details and, if a car is insured for overnight storage in a garage but is stolen from a street, this could reduce the value of the claim.

Secondly, if your car is especially valuable, consider getting a "Tracker" or other vehicle location device fitted, as insurance companies recommend. It may act as a deterrent or, if the vehicle is stolen, may enable it to be found before much damage is done.

Finally, hide your car keys. Make sure they are kept in a safe place, not necessarily near the front door. To prevent the keys being hooked through the letter box there are letterbox cages and deflectors that can be bought and installed at minimal cost. Detective Chief Inspector Peter Edwards, crime manager for Barnet Police, said: "Car keys should not be kept near the front door or anywhere where they can be seen through ground floor doors and windows. It is essential that we get the message across to people." If you would like further specialist or personal advice on keeping your car and your home secure, contact PC Duncan Hillcoat, one of Barnet's Crime Prevention Officers, on 0208 733 5092 or visit www.met.police.uk/barnet
