Bold and unmissable, this statue dedicated to The Kinks was unveiled at the Clissold Arms on 27 April in the presence of drummer Mick Avory and guitarist John Dalton.

They were joined by a contingent of Kinks fans from Norway, the home country of the sculpture's artist Daniel Ostvold. You can see the artwork for yourself in the pub and restaurant's Kinks room until 27 July.

Festival 2014: the full line-up

East Finchley's annual community festival in Cherry Tree Wood on Sunday 22 June promises to be one of the best yet, with great music, food and craft stalls.

Volunteers are still welcome to help steward on the day, especially in setting up and packing away. If you have an hour or two to help things run smoothly, contact Councillor Arjun Mittra at cllr.a.mittra@barnet.gov.uk or 07867 902400.

The Archer team will have their own stall and we hope to be selling brand new Archer tea towels for charity.

Meanwhile, here is the entertainment programme for the two stages, hosted by Pat 'Have Mercy' Leacock and Mike Hughes:
